Allegro energico
Adagio
Allegretto
Allegro con brio

Eugene Migliaro Corporon, Conductor
Joseph Mohan (DMA ’21), piano
calls upon the band’s martial associations, with an exuberant march somewhat reminiscent of similar efforts by Sir William Walton. Along with the sunny disposition and apparent straightforwardness of works like the Second and Third Symphonies, the immediacy and durability of their appeal is the result of considerable subtlety in motivic and harmonic relationships and even in voice leading.

In addition to his Symphony No. 3, which enjoys a position as a staple long-form work of the wind band repertoire, Giannini’s “Tell Me, Oh Blue, Blue Sky” has appeared regularly on art song recitals since its premiere in 1927.

ABOUT THE ARTISTS

Eugene Migliaro Corporon, Director of Wind Studies and Regents Professor of Music at the University of North Texas, conducts the Wind Symphony and guides all aspects of the program, including the graduate degrees in Wind Conducting. In demand as a conductor and teacher, he maintains an active guest-conducting schedule. His performances have drawn praise from colleagues, composers, and music critics alike. Mr. Corporon began his career, which spans six decades, as Director of Instrumental Music at Mt. Miguel High School in Spring Valley, California. He has held collegiate positions since 1971, including at California State University, Fullerton, the University of Wisconsin, the University of Northern Colorado, Michigan State University, the Cincinnati College-Conservatory of Music, and the University of North Texas. His ensembles have performed at the Midwest Clinic International Band and Orchestra Conference, Southwestern Music Educators National Conference, Texas Music Educators Association Clinic/Convention, Texas Bandmasters Association Association Convention/Convention, International Trumpet Guild Conference, International Clarinet Society Convention, North American Saxophone Alliance Conference, Percussive Arts Society International Convention, International Horn Society Conference, National Wind Ensemble Conference, College Band Directors National Association Conference, Japan Band Clinic, and the Conference for the World Association of Symphonic Bands and Ensembles.

Mr. Corporon is a frequent guest conductor at the Showa University of Music in Kawasaki City, Japan, and has served as a visiting conductor at the Juilliard School, the Interlochen World Center for Arts Education, and the Aspen Music Festival and School. He is the Music Director and conductor of the Lone Star Wind Orchestra, a professional group made up of passionate and committed musicians from the Dallas/Denton/Fort Worth metroplex.

Having recorded over 1000 works, including many premieres and commissions, his groups have released more than 150 recordings on the GIA, Toshiba/EMI, Klavier, Mark, CAFUA, Donemus, Soundmark, Albany, Naxos, and Centaur labels, which are aired regularly on broadcasts throughout Asia, Europe, and the Americas. Together, his recordings with the North Texas Wind Symphony, Cincinnati Wind Symphony, Showa Wind Symphony, and Lone Star Wind Orchestra have garnered more than 15 million hits on YouTube, Pandora, and Spotify. His GIA audio and video digital releases are distributed by NAXOS and include the WindWorks Series, Composer’s Collection, and Teaching Music Through Performance.

Mr. Corporon is cohost with Barry Green of the video The Inner Game of Music, which focuses on overcoming mental obstacles as a performer, and he appears with James Jordan on the DVD The Anatomy of Conducting. He is coauthor of Teaching Music Through Performance in Band, an eleven-volume series that emphasizes the importance of comprehensive conceptual learning in the music-making process as well as the value of performing music of artistic significance.

A graduate of California State University, Long Beach and Claremont Graduate University, Eugene Migliaro Corporon was inducted into the Bands of America Hall of Fame in 2014. He is a recipient of the International Grainger Society Distinctive Contribution Medallion, the Kappa Kappa Psi Distinguished Service to Music Award, and an Honorary Life Membership in the Texas Bandmasters Association. He has also received the Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia National Citation for advancing the cause of music in America; the University of North Texas Student Government Association Award for Teaching Excellence; the American School Band Directors Association A. A. Harding Award for making significant and lasting contributions to the school band movement; and the California State University, Long Beach, Distinguished Alumni Award. He was awarded the Midwest Clinic Medal of Honor in 2015 in recognition of his service to music education and his continuing influence on the development of bands and orchestras worldwide. He is grateful to many people for their guidance and inspiration in his life. Among them are Charles Yates, Robert Reynolds, Benton Minor, Don Wilcox, Larry Maxey, Jack Hopkins, Frederick Fennell, Barry Green, James Jordan, and Carolyn Corporon.

Winner of the 2019 Dora Zaslavsky-Koch Piano Competition, Joseph Mohan is currently a doctoral candidate at Manhattan School of Music under the tutelage of André-Michel Schub. He is becoming widely recognized for his versatility and innovative programming, which champions classical works while incorporating the pops genre. A “tremendously talented pianist with a flair for improvisation” (Ocean City Sentinel), Joseph performed in a special tribute to Marvin Hamlisch in Central Park’s Delacorte Theatre and has appeared in the Juilliard School’s Wednesdays at One concert series at Alice Tully Hall and PianoScope series at the Morgan Library, as well as with the Collegiate Chorale in Song of Norway at Carnegie Hall.

Joseph has performed throughout North America and Europe. He has collaborated with the Pittsburgh Symphony, the Westchester Philharmonic, the Rochester Philharmonic, the South Carolina Philharmonic, the American Symphony Orchestra, the Ocean City Pops, the Amherst Symphony, and the Greater Buffalo Youth Orchestra under the batons of Marvin Hamlisch, Ted Sperling, Bill Scheible, Matthew Kraemer, Gerard Floriano, and Steven Thomas, among others. His solo recitals include a guest performance at the Thousand Islands International Chopin Piano Competition for Young People and a recital as a part of the Ocean City Tabernacle’s annual summer concert series. He has also presented a special concert entitled “Music and a Message” for the Niagara Lutheran Health Foundation and a pre-concert performance for the Amherst Symphony Orchestra. Joseph has won numerous national and international piano competitions, including the BPO Idol with Marvin Hamlisch. He was one of the performers featured on the PBS documentary Piano Forte, which continues to air regularly. Joseph is also the recipient of many awards, including the Joseph Fidelman Scholarship, Lola Maskiewitz Scholarship Fund, Juilliard Alumni Scholarship, and the H. & A. Ziegle Jr. Scholarship.

An active composer, his works have been performed by the Ocean City Pops among others. His orchestrations have enjoyed performances with the Buffalo Philharmonic and the Pittsburgh Philharmonic under the batons of Marvin Hamlisch and Paul Ferrington. He has also served as conductor of the School of Visual Arts Orchestra in New York City. Well-versed in musical theatre, he music directed the New York productions of Obama in Naples, the Abilene Christian University production of After Zoey, and the latest workshop for Silver Skates, a musical by Byron Janis and George David Weiss.

A strong supporter of community outreach and education, Joseph has participated in fundraisers for the Roswell Park Cancer Institute and Kids Escaping Drugs program and performances at local churches and community gatherings. Feeling that it is particularly important to reach audiences from all backgrounds, he organizes nursing homes performances over holiday seasons. Through the Juilliard School’s community outreach program, he has been a member of the Gluck Community Fellowship, a program devoted to bringing performers from all disciplines into rehabilitation centers and underprivileged communities throughout New York City. Presently, he teaches ear training at the Juilliard School Precollege and Evening divisions and is on the composition faculty at Hoff-Barthelson Music School. He also serves as the Director of Music at St. Mary’s Episcopal Church in Brooklyn.

Joseph has attended summer music festivals such as the Gijón Piano Festival, Southeastern Piano Festival, Eastern Music Festival, and Indiana Piano Academy. He has participated in master classes with Stephen Hough, Richard Goode, Nelita True, Natalya Antonova, Barry Snyder, and James Giles. Joseph holds Bachelor and Master of Music degrees from the Juilliard School, where he studied under Seymour Lipkin and Matti Raekallio.
ABOUT MANHATTAN SCHOOL OF MUSIC

Founded as a community music school by Janet Daniels Schenck in 1918, today MSM is recognized for its more than 960 superbly talented undergraduate and graduate students who come from more than 50 countries and nearly all 50 states; its innovative curricula and world-renowned artist-teacher faculty that includes musicians from the New York Philharmonic, the Met Orchestra, and the top ranks of the jazz and Broadway communities; and a distinguished community of accomplished, award-winning alumni working at the highest levels of the musical, educational, cultural, and professional worlds.

The School is dedicated to the personal, artistic, and intellectual development of aspiring musicians, from its Precollege students through those pursuing doctoral studies. Offering classical, jazz, and musical theatre training, MSM grants a range of undergraduate and graduate degrees. True to MSM’s origins as a music school for children, the Precollege program continues to offer superior music instruction to 475 young musicians between the ages of 5 and 18. The School also serves some 2,000 New York City schoolchildren through its Arts-in-Education Program, and another 2,000 students through its critically acclaimed Distance Learning Program.
